I have been playing this Casino since 2020 and in the last year 2022 these guys decided I was a skilled player on a global skilled player list which I've never heard of and just found out...and I got email saying they won't give me any bonuses which is funny because I never used them in the first place... but I have learned they just take my money now because for some reason they didn't realize that during covid-19 for 2 years I was just someone having to retire early and just wanted some entertainment because no freedom due to covid...but instead this company tracks you if you win too much then they think you're either cheating or a globally skilled player LOL which is so funny. ... I'm going to go back to my local casino because I'm tired of these guys taking every dime and not giving anything in return except for losing..so yes the games are rigged according to player skill they are not random! I noticed I've done nothing but lose all of 2022 when this casino decided I was skilled player..if I am so skilled why am I losing all the time ? There is food for thought!

Another popular bet on the NBA futures market is the 2022 NBA MVP Award. Players battle night in and night out for their teams and this award recognizes the very best player in the league over the course of a full regular season. The betting odds for this year's award has seen quite a bit of movement over recent weeks, so let's review the current favorites to be named 2022 MVP.

Bovada did a random security investigation on my account disabling it. They took 2 weeks to give me information as to why, and at the time I had 900 dollars on there. Once, I finally received a email from them announcing it would be closed for good their reasoning was someone else in my household has an account. I live in a college dorm there is no way someone can know that or be held in the wrong for that.

When it comes to futures betting, there are a number of factors that can impact an NBA team's championship odds; a long winning streak, a major slump, a big injury or surprising trade can all shift a team's betting odds for better or worse. Basketball fans have seen a bit of everything over the past month, including a wild NBA trade deadline that saw a number of big names change teams. The Dallas Mavericks sent Kristaps to the Washington Wizards in exchange for Spencer Dinwiddie and Davis Bertans. The Sacramento Kings were busy at the deadline, trading Marvin Bagley III in a four-team deal to acquire Donte DiVincenzo, Josh Jackson and Trey Lyles. The Kings also traded Tyrese Haliburton, Buddy Hield and Tristan Thompson to the Pacers in exchange for Domantas Sabonis, Justin Holiday, Jeremy Lamb and a 2023 2nd-round pick. There were several other big trades on deadline day, but none had a bigger impact on the NBA futures betting market than the blockbuster deal between the Philadelphia 76ers and Brooklyn Nets. Ben Simmons' time in Philly is finally over, as the 76ers sent Simmons, Seth Curry, Andre Drummond and two first-round picks in exchange for James Harden and Paul Millsap.

The Warriors have been one of the betting favorites to win this year's NBA title since the start of the season. Golden State trails only to the Phoenix Suns for the best record in the NBA and has plenty of star power, including two-time NBA MVP, Steph Curry. The Warriors championship betting odds have improved as of late, mainly due to the Simmons-Harden trade. With the Nets trading away one of their best players, Golden State leapfrogged Brooklyn in the futures betting market and now look like an even stronger pick to win it all. With plenty of championship experience, the Warriors have a great chance to win it all if they can keep veterans Klay Thompson and Draymond Green healthy for the playoffs.

While Warriors point guard Steph Curry was the favorite to win this award last month, his recent shooting struggles have allowed 76ers center Joel Embiid to surpass him as the betting favorite to win NBA MVP. The seven-footer leads the NBA scoring race at 29.6 points per game, while also putting up averages of 11.2 rebounds and 4.5 assists a night. More importantly, Embiid has led Philadelphia to first in the Atlantic Division and just 2.5 games back of top spot in the east. If the big man can mesh well with new teammate James Harden, it can only boost his odds of winning MVP. His current betting odds may not offer a massive return, but Embiid is currently the best bet to win this award.

There are two ways to win a hand of poker. One, you can be the last person in the hand, after everyone else folds. Two, you can have the best hand at showdown, after all the betting is done and there's at least one more player fighting with you over the pot. In the games available at Bovada, poker hands are graded using the standard rankings, as follows:

Same story. Gave my money and they locked me out of my account. Seems to be a pattern with complaints here. I guess they're just common thieves and don't care about their reputation.

The cash games at Bovada Poker include the standard games, as well as a “fast fold” game called Zone Poker, where you get new hole cards at a new table as soon as you fold your hand. This allows you to play 2-3 times as many hands per hour as you can play at the regular cash tables. For even more volume, you can play up to two Zone Poker tables at the same time. For regular cash games, the maximum is four tables, and for tournaments, you can play up to 15 tables at once.

Speaking of betting value, the Bucks are currently available at +700 on Bovada Sportsbook to claim the 2022 NBA title. Despite being defending NBA champions, Milwaukee continues to be an afterthought for many NBA odds makers. The Bucks started the season slow and still trail the surprising Bulls and Cavs in the Central Division standings, but you can be sure nobody will want to face them once the playoffs begin. With the unstoppable force that is Giannis Antetokounmpo, the Bucks will always be considered a contender to win it all. Jrue Holiday and Khris Middleton round out Milwaukee’s big three and their health is critical for the team’s success. The Bucks also have much better support this year with players like Grayson Allen and the recently acquired Serge Ibaka providing additional depth.

The team that began the year as the betting favorite to win this year’s NBA championship has seen their betting odds rise considerably as they struggled on the court. The Nets recently endured an embarrassing 11-game losing streak, but the team still has the pieces in place to make a serious run in the playoffs. The newly-acquired Ben Simmons is nearing his Brooklyn debut and his pass-first style of play could be a good fit now that he’s playing with Durant and Irving. Not to be lost in that Simmons trade was the acquisition of sharpshooter Seth Curry. The younger Curry brother is shooting 41% from beyond the arc and adds another scoring threat for the Nets. The recent shift in Brooklyn’s championship odds could deliver some great betting value if they manage to put it all together come playoff time.

Last year’s NBA MVP Award winner would love to claim the prestigious title in back-to-back seasons and has given himself a chance to do just that with his recent play. The Denver Nuggets may only be sixth in the Western Conference but Jokic continues to fill the stat sheet on a nightly basis with 26 points, 13.8 rebounds and 7.9 assists per game. The Nuggets center also leads the league in Player Efficiency Rating (PER), which many experts use to get an accurate overview of a player’s complete performance. It’s always tougher for a player to win the NBA MVP Award in consecutive season, but Jokic’s stellar play has made it a real possibility.

The Suns have looked like legit title contenders since the year began. With a win percentage well over .800, Phoenix owns the best record in the NBA by a significant margin. Shooting guard Devin Booker is putting up over 25 points per game and big man Deandre Ayton is averaging a double-double, but the Suns will only go as far as Chris Paul will take them. The Phoenix point guard leads the NBA in assists at 10.7 per game, but recently fractured his right thumb and is expected to miss six-to-eight weeks. The Suns’ championship odds haven’t been impacted that much since Paul is expected back for the start of the playoffs, but those odds could begin to shift if Phoenix struggles down the stretch.

There are other poker games where the lowest hand wins instead of the highest; these are called lowball games. In addition, there are split-pot games where half the pot goes to the high hand and the other half to the low hand. There's a special split-pot game you can play at Bovada Poker that we'll discuss in a moment, but for the most part, you'll be trying to make the highest hand possible when you play at Bovada. Also, you'll be playing "flop" poker, where you combine your hole cards with the community cards (dealt face-up in the middle of the table for everyone to use) to make your hand. More detailed rules are available for each of the games you can play at Bovada Poker.

If the players have the same ranking hand at showdown, the highest kicker is used as a tie-breaker. For example, if there are two players remaining and each has a Pair of Nines, the player who also has Ace-Eight-Deuce will beat the player who also has King-Queen-Jack. On rare occasions, two or more players will end up with exactly the same hand strength, even accounting for kickers. When this happens, the pot is split evenly among those players. This is known as a chopped pot.

There are many different ways to play poker, but today’s most popular games are Texas Hold’em and Omaha. You can play both of these flop games at Bovada Poker, using No-Limit, Pot-Limit and Fixed-Limit betting structures. Omaha Hi/Lo is also available, where the pot is split between the best high hand and the best low hand (using the “Eights or Better” rule). Most poker players prefer No-Limit Hold’em, but you’ll get more bang for your buck if you develop your skills at all three of these games.

No team has taken a bigger step forward in the NBA futures market than the Philadelphia 76ers after acquiring James Harden. The 76ers already have a legit MVP-candidate in Joel Embiid and the team’s potential is through the roof with the addition of Harden. Although Philly had to give up quite a bit to land the star shooting guard, only Seth Curry was part of the current rotation. By trading draft picks and the inactive Ben Simmons, the 76ers lose very little from their current roster while being able to add a significant contributor in Harden. All of this tells betting experts that Philly is invested in winning now and wants to take a serious run at an NBA title. You may want to consider betting on this team now before their championship payout odds continue to shrink.

Tournament poker at Bovada can be further broken down into two categories: multi-table tournaments (MTTs) and single-table tournaments (STTs), which are exactly what they sound like. STTs are typically played using the Sit-and-Go format; as soon as the table fills, whether it’s heads-up, 6-max or full-ring, the game begins. There’s also a special Jackpot Sit-and-Go for three players, where the winner takes home up to 1000X their buy-in.

Bovada is terrible. I have been with them for several years. Logged in to my account yesterday and my account was completely wiped out. $0 balance. When I logged in the day before it was $300. Called the 1-800 number and was on hold to find out that their call center is closed due to covid? Then spent 2 hours on chat getting disconnected several times before I got someone. He said sorry nothing he could do about it and the supervisor that I asked for would just tell me the same thing? What?! I would run for the hills before signing up for this crooked site.
