One of the major draws of being able to play live blackjack online is the ability to interact with an actual human being that you are seeing streamed via a webcam. This brings a lot of personality and fun to the game, especially if the live blackjack dealer happens to be a very attractive person. It would be really hard to find a serious player that prefers a mechanical, boring "computer" dealer as opposed to the action seen with live dealer blackjack. Sure, being able to play blackjack at most online casinos is fun, but there's little doubt that the top online live blackjack tables are a far superior experience.

The online casinos we have recommended strive to provide you with the best experience. Part of this is giving you enough choices and opportunities. This includes the ability to hand select your live blackjack dealer. The choices vary by site, but often allow you to choose the gender, ethnicity, and style. Although not important for every player, it is a nice touch.

None of the live dealer blackjack casinos we recommend are rigged. Like regular online casino games, live dealer games are tested by independent bodies to ensure everything is completely safe and fair. Their accreditation will always be shown on the casino site, meaning you can check immediately whether it has been independently tested under the terms of its licence..

Whether you're a newbie in the casino realm or you're a blackjack veteran, there's absolutely no doubt that you've heard of betting systems. And although many players often warn other gamblers of the perils of using them, you can benefit from using one provided that you've got a decent bankroll, you use a combination of them and you know exactly when to stop playing. That being said, it is always important to bear in mind that using a betting system does in no way guarantee you a win in the long run as none of them will completely swing the house edge in your favor. If you decide to use a betting system to help you control how much to bet, we recommend using a positive progressive betting system rather than a negative one. Positive progressive systems, such as the Paroli betting system, the Reverse Labouchere, the Reverse D'Alembert and more, have been designed to make players bet increase their bet after a win rather than a loss in comparison to negative betting systems.

Perfect Pairs is arguably the most popular blackjack game with a side bet that you'll find online. The game plays out as standard, however you'll have the option of placing the Perfect Pairs side bet. If you choose to do so, and find that your hand contains a pair, you'll win a prize. The biggest prize comes when you manage to get two identical cards of the same suit (such as two queen of hearts cards), which is possible as blackjack uses multiple decks of cards. This side bet option is perfect for adding fun and excitement to your experience of the game.
