Almost all California betting houses are open all day and night. California brick and mortar casinos are allowed to present electronic gaming machines, black jack, and a number of other card games. Unfortunately, the games of craps and roulette are not allowed, but some California brick and mortar casinos offer alternative types of these games that are played with cards in place of dice or roulette wheels. Slots, electronic poker and video keno are the most favoured electronic gaming machines you will discover in California casinos. Some of the card games consistently played in California betting houses include chemin de fer, baccarat chemin de fer, poker (including pai gow, Caribbean stud and three-card poker), Spanish 21, and Let it Ride. Most California brick and mortar casinos also offer bingo, casino war and OTB (off track wagering) options for bettors and casual gamblers.
