Highlights Concoct up to two, full 36ounce pitchers of frozen drinks without refilling the extralarge ice reservoir The machine knows just the right proportions of ice and ingredients using the automatic settings Make the exact number of drinks you want with the 1, 2, or 3 drink selector Customize drinks to personal tastes by relying on the manual settings A dependable workhorse with its durable housing and sturdy glass blending jar Beautiful just sitting there, trimmed in stainless steel Keep your party flowing with restaurant-quality frozen drinks. Capture that casual island attitude. A Breeze to Use Fill the ice reservoir with ice, add measured ingredients into the blender jar, and you're well on your way to the perfect margarita or other favorite drink. Glass Blending Jar The Key West Frozen Concoction Maker provides a sturdy glass blending jar with a 36ounce capacity, measuring marks up the side, and an easygrip handle. Both the blending jar and its lid are dishwasher-safe for quick cleanup. Margaritaville DM1000 Key West Frozen Concoction Maker, 36ounce glass blending jar, Quick Start guide, user manual To calculate the overall star rating and percentage breakdown by star, we don't use a simple average. Instead, our system considers things like how recent a review is and if the reviewer bought the item on Amazon. It also analyzes reviews to verify trustworthiness. Please try again later. It has worked well for almost 10 years. It has stood the test of time. It consistently makes perfect blended drinks. It's simple to use and has made me and my family happy for years. The manufacturing and design is pure quality. Yes, it's expensive but worth every penny. 5 stars. She loves it, but I'm the one behind the bar who uses it. All done automatically. Is the result worth it. According to about 10 guests at an after-Christmas Margarita party, ABSOLUTELY. Much smoother ice blend is the big positive, no chunks. Any downside Two. <http://chemtron-vostok.ru/media/canon-multipass-c70-manual.xml>

1 the heavy glass pitcher is smaller than a standard blender, an issue with large parties as they crank up, and 2 at the end of the party, the ice container is difficult to empty of remaining ice. You must upend the entire heavy machine. When it arrived it was like Christmas for her. She immediately went out and bought all sorts of supplies for it and fired it up. In our efforts to get the exact right mixture we went through several pitchers of creamy frozen delight. Maybe it was her initial excitement that kept her going but I had to throw in the towel and call it a night. The appliance appears to be well constructed and ready for some serious use. I like the fact that the pitcher on this model is glass and not a flimsy plastic one. Some other reviewers have stated that the chute where the shaved ice comes out doesn't line up with the top of the pitcher, it's not an exact fit but I haven't seen any ice fragments come flying out that would poke your eye out. The actual operation of this machine is the beauty of it. Anytime you flip the switch and it starts up, the room stops and everyone has to marvel at the creation of their frozen concoction. It's all part of the show. It was wonderful. The final product was smooth like a slurpee no chunks or teeny pieces of ice just all smooth slush just like a slurpee. This thing is really big and heavy I am not young. I need to haul it out and set it up for a party. I do not use it everyday since it has such a huge footprint and there is not enough space on my kitchen counters for it to just sit there all the time. So I've used it twice just for parties and thus far it has performed perfectly. With planned obsolescence engineered into almost every product we buy today, it is no wonder that every item that can be engineered to fail will wear out so that we must purchase another product. Merchandise just does not last like those in the days of yore.

I purchased this on sale and it is a novelty at parties that my daughters have and I am pleased. Recommend! He mentioned about getting me one for my birthday and again as a Christmas gift. I kept telling him that I didn't need one although a little part of me wanted one. Anyway, it was a very long and hard winter in the Northeast and we just wanted a break. Amazon had it at an unbeatable price and I didn't think again about ordering the DM1000. Shipping and delivery was superb and we were anxious to get blending. We practiced one night for ourselves and it was a breeze. It is great to read others' comments here because you do learn some hints, one of which is to chill the glasses and mixing container to help keep the beverage frozen longer. Party night came at our house and every single person who we invited showed up and they all commented and loved the Margaritaville maker. I feel certain that at least one of the couples is going to be owning their very own in the near future. We are looking forward already to the next party which will be bigger and better and outside!. The only negative feedback I would give is that it is loud, but fortunately, it doesn't take long to mix the three drinks. However, my husband did blend at least 1012 batches. This machine makes drinks with the perfect, smooth consistency, every single time. The kids love homemade slushies or virgin pina coladas, while the adults enjoy Margaritas and the famous or infamous Mount Gay Painkillers. Suggestion Buy 2 of the glass blending jars to have a seamless transition between the different drinks. Lovely summer drinks. Amazing product. Would recommend. So easy to use and clean. Makes perfect frozen drinks. I just love it. Margaritaville DM2000 Premium Frozen Concoction Maker. The difference with the cheaper margaritaville. It's time to party with the Margaritaville Bahamas Frozen Concoction Maker for a pitcher full of your favorite frozen drinks made fast and easy. Nothing captures that.

Housed in stylish brushed and polished stainlesssteel and updated with preset controls and a larger ice reservoir, this premium version of the original Margaritaville Frozen Concoction Maker produces twice as many frozen beverages between refills. Unlike a blender, it features two powerful mechanisms., coladas and smoothies, it quickly blends one, using the manual option, you can manage the consistency even more precisely. Its heavy and heavy duty. But its a lot of fun and delivers on the promise great frozen drinks. Also, we figured out that we can now make snocones for the kids.

Easy idea shave the ice in the machine, spoon out into cups and use unfrozen pushup type freezer pops to flavor. The onoff button is a little hard to find. I know, read the instructions. And you will be wondering what happens to the water from the ice up top as it melt s. Well, these guys are smart and put a water drain and container to catch the runoff built into the back of the blender. Just make sure it doesnt overflow. Dont have to worry about getting the last of the ice out after a party, let it melt into the container. Overall, we love it. If youve got the space and can find an easily accessible home, its a great addition. However. its not a quick and easy get out the blender type of machine. I was expecting a higher build quality as in materials used. More like a Kitchen Aid blender. I thought for that much it should look like something that will last a generation or more. It does not and feels cheap but it is heavy so perhaps they couldnt add much more metal without making it too heavy. After minimal use, the switch for adding ice or blending is already having contact issues causing the motor to pulse sporadically rather than run. If you fiddle with it, it works. Not likely to be long lived. When blending, stuff splatters into the ice funnel over the pitcher and that piece has sharp angles and crevices. It isnt removable for cleaning so you have to work at it. The pitcher top d oesnt cover the pour spout perfectly and a bit comes out. The pitcher dribbles badly and then the melted stuff runs into the screw on base and drips out each time you pour. Now for the good. It does and excellent job of making drinks, perfect drinks, and while my wife thought my purchase was a bit questionable at first, she loves it now. The kids do too. Even if this one breaks, I would buy another just because we enjoy it so much. A whole lotta fun! It does take some practice to become accomplished mixologist, even with this contraption. And the practice is fun.

We use it on our cruiser with many guests and they too are amazed and entertained. It is rather sizeable, but not heavy. Back to the blender; it is simple, not to complicated with directions, and the adventurer could easily use it without directions. The cord has a nifty storage compartment fitted into the back of the blender case. Construction seems sufficient, but it is plastic so take care not to bang it around during transport. It also is a bit taller than we thought, so size could be an issue for some. First off, this is a top quality appliance. The visual appeal is excellent and interesting right out of the box. This DM2000 was a gift, we own the previous model and another DM2000. As you know, this quality comes at quite a price. Due to the price, it would be wise to NOT buy one if you dont plan on using it much or entertaining. As far as when you do, its a great tool. The glass jug is heavy and very nice. The mixer and ice shaver motors are intensely powerful, enough to briefly dim the lights in the room. You also get options for ice shaving and mixing to fine tune your frozen concoctions. The included booklets are pretty helpful for usage. Theres a nice stowaway compartment for the power cord as well. I personally like how heavy and well made the unit is along with the mapish design in the material surrounding where the jug goes. Overall, its a nice and well made mixer. It feels almost fit to be a commercial unit, but its very visually appealing and will make a nice counter ornament when not in use. First off, this is a top quality appliance. This Margaritaville frozen concoction maker can make perfect frozen drinks with only liquid ingredients and with liquids plus frozen fruit, fresh fruit, or ice cream. It can make three 12 ounce glasses at a time, or two or just one. The DM0500 is the best Margaritaville margarita machine for simply giving you a pitcher or margaritas. It's simple and cheap. Of course, for anything other than that, you need to use the manual controls. The Margaritaville Machine DM1000 is a step up from the DM0500 in that you can choose one or two drinks as well as a full pitcher. The Margaritaville DM3000 is for much heavier entertaining. It can fill up to three different 2drink pitchers with different concoctions at the same time. Immediately out of the freezer, it won't shave very well. Push the manual control one way for ice, the other way to blend. They are distinguished by the kinds of ingredients The body wipes clean. It's shipping weight is about 24 lbs. One of the concerns about it is the difficulty of sliding it under a cupboard over your counter. That means, if someone clicks on the link and makes a purchase, the vendor pays me something out of their advertising budget. I'd be a fool not to. If the product isn't excellent, I won't include a link; I probably won't mention it at all.

FAQs About Margarators Unlike blenders, the Margaritaville Frozen Concoction Maker shave ice and blends your favorite margarita ingredients for the perfect margarita.
