The manual became very vague and I just dont know what to do anymore. The step I get lost at is when you turn the hand wheel at the top and the needle dips down and is supposed to come back up with thread from the lower bobbin. The lower thread simply does not come along. I can take more pictures if needed. I have a Euro Pro too and they can be a real pain in the ass. I had the same problem at first too and basically just fiddled with it trying it every way under the sun to try to get it to pull the bobbin up. Glad to hear Im not alone! I tried several times to put the thread entirely into the bobbin holder, but it did not solve my problem. The machine simply does not seem to interact with the bottom bobbin at all.I feel theres someplace Im supposed to put the dangling thread but I just cant seem to figure out where. Do you hold the needle thread when you lower and raise the needle. When you pull up on the needle thread this loop should come up through the needle plate which you can then slip the point of the scissors through and pull the remaining thread up. I can see my machine making a rotation with the needle, but it does not interact with the bobbin thread at all.<http://pusancard.com/userData/board/cox-dvr-remote-control-manual.xml>

I fail to see a connection point at all since the bobbin is just sitting in its holder and does not move even when the machine is on. Is it supposed to sit still like this. Thank you for the suggestion about the repair shop. There isnt one nearby, but Im pretty dedicated to making this work. Check out your area and see what you can find. To avoid a lot of the bobbin problems, I suggest a top loading bobbin. All rights reserved Back to top. She studied business management at Chowan College. Place a spool of thread on the spool pin. Attach the bobbin to the bobbin spindle. Hold on to the thread lightly and it will break as the bobbin is made. The machine will stop when the bobbin is completed. Turn the hand wheel, raising the needle to the highest position. Slide the bobbin in and release the bobbin case latch. Close the front cover. Move the thread down and between the tension discs from right to left. Pull on the thread lightly to make sure the thread is fairly tight. Hold the thread loosely and turn the hand wheel to thread the bobbin up through the face plate. You can now begin sewing. Press the center of the feed dial to use reverse sewing.
