One powerful and challenging requirement was the development of federal identification standards for states to follow when issuing driver licenses and identification cards. These identification standards are intended to combat terrorism, identity theft, and other crimes by strengthening the integrity and security of state-issued identification documents. For existing driver license or identification card holders, you will be presenting original source documents at the time of renewal like you did the first time you obtained your driver license or identification card. Again, this is a one-time revalidation; the only time the DMV will need to see your source documents again is if you decide to change any of the information on your driver license or identification card, such as a name change, or if your immigration documents expire. All new applicants will already be required to show this documentation, so for them it will be business as usual. Below you will find a complete list of acceptable source documentation. If you are unable to produce these documents, you may obtain a noncompliant driver license or identification card. By complying with these standards, in addition to driving authority and identification, you will be able to use your driver license or identification card for domestic flights, entering federal facilities, and other official federal purposes. Without obtaining a federally compliant driver license or identification card you will be required to obtain a U.S. passport to do these things and obtaining a passport would be more time consuming and expensive for you. Find out how to contact Vital Statistics for all U.S. States and Territories. In order to obtain a federally compliant driver license or identification card, first-time Delaware applicants and existing Delaware applicants should expect to provide original source documents as proof of identity and legal presence in the United States, social security number, and Delaware residence. <http://www.jnejendomsdrift.dk/userfiles/craftsman-ii-eager-1-manual.xml>

For existing driver license or identification card holders you will be presenting original source documents at the time of renewal like you did the first time you obtained your driver license or identification card. This onetime revalidation of your source documents will enable the DMV to ensure your identity. By planning ahead and coming prepared to the Division of Motor Vehicles, your compliant driver license or identification card request will be handled more efficiently. Please note that all documents presented MUST be original or certified copies. Photocopies and noncertified documents will NOT be accepted. For further information, please call 877.477.7117. Examples include adoption document, name change document, gender document, etc. Please visit US Citizenship for an Adopted Child for more information. Each of the two proofs of residency must be from separate sources and must display the persons physical address, not a P.O. box Foreign military members and their dependents must provide a valid passport, I94, visa, or assignment orders to be eligible Travel limited to 25 miles radius of Columbus Circle in New York Visitor for business visa waiver program. Visitor for pleasure tourist in visa waiver program. Photocopies will not be accepted. Why is the Delaware DMV making all these changes to comply Without obtaining a federally compliant driver license or identification card you will be required to obtain a U.S. passport to do these things and obtaining a passport is more time consuming and expensive for you. Again, this is a onetime revalidation; the only time the DMV will need to see your source documents again is if you decide to change any of the information on your driver license or identification card such as a name change or if your immigration documents expire. All new applicants will already be required to show this documentation, so for them it will be business as usual. See the acceptable documentation list for complete details.

See the acceptable documentation list for complete details. The main point to remember is that if your name is different than what is presented on your passport or birth certificate, you must show how it changed. All documents such as a marriage certificate, divorce decree, or court order must be originals or certified copies. For individuals in this situation, you may obtain a noncompliant driver license or identification card. Delaware received over a million dollars in federal grants in order to further secure our issuance facilities so that we may remain overthecounter. One of the upgrades includes highly secure rooms for driver license and identification card production. See TSA ID Requirements for Airport Checkpoints for an approved list of alternate documents. Delaware will not be putting an RFID chip in any card issued by the DMV. It does not prevent, control, or affect gun sales. These changes not only give the DMV a new look, but they also further secure the issuance process enabling the DMV to offer you a federally compliant driver license or identification card. We have produced this informational video as a tool to guide you through our new process. Our changes will affect what documents you will need to COLLECT and BRING with you so you can SECURE your new federally compliant driver license or identification card. We want to make your experience at the DMV as positive and seamless as possible, and your preparation will aid in that goal. Enjoy the video! Site functionality is greatly reduced. Review all areas before visiting a driver licensing station to ensure you have the appropriate documentation to complete your transaction. To prove your full legal name and age, you must provide two documents—either two primary documents, or one primary and one secondary document. Otherwise, they must take a written and driving test to receive a Montana driver license. Note Outofstate license transfers must have a current, valid driver license from the state they are transferring from. Note a certified birth certificate typically has the registrar's unique seal e.g., raised, embossed, impressed or multicolored, the registrar's signature and the date the certificate was filed with the registrar's office Identity theft is now the top reported form of crime in the United States. The name and birth date on your application for a driver license or ID card must match the primary document you provide and will be checked with the Social Security Administration. This is to help protect you against fraud. It's important to fix discrepancies now to avoid problems in the future for you and your family. Please make sure the full legal name and date of birth you're going to use on your application for a driver license or ID card matches what is on file with the Social Security Administration. In today's society, a driver license is widely used to verify a person's identity and may be required for everything from opening a bank account to cashing a check. Given these incidental uses and Homeland Security measures, policy makers have become increasingly concerned that driver licenses be issued only to individuals who can prove that their presence in the U.S. is authorized. A driver license or ID card issued to a person who is a foreign national and whose presence in the U.S.

is temporarily authorized must expire no later than the expiration date of the official document issued to the person by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services. A Montana residence or street address must be provided; if the applicant does not receive mail at the residence or street address, a Montana post office box or mailing address also must be provided. The department accepts the following documents as evidence of a Montana residence address, provided the document shows the applicant's name and Montana residence address as it appears on the driver license application. The new Executive Order doesn't apply to commercial driver licenses. Any driver may see their updated driver license expiration date at AZMVDNow.gov. Drivers have the option to order a duplicate license with the updated expiration date. View the Executive Order HERE.
