

The Ant and The Bird

This is a bird. Her name is Penny. Penny is on the grass near the pond.

Soon, there's a loud shout from the pond. "Help! Help! Help!"

"Look at the pond. What is that in the pond?" The tree says.

Wow! That is an ant in the pond. The ant cannot swim. "Are you okay?" Penny asks.

"No! Help me, please!" The ant says. Penny is a nice bird. She likes to help people.

The tree gives a branch to Penny. Penny passes the branch to the ant. "Catch it!" says Penny. Finally, Penny saves the ant. They play and sing together.

One day, a man catches Penny when they play on the grass. "Help! Help! Help!" cried Penny. "I can help!" The ant says. The ant runs as fast as he can to the man and bites his finger!

"Oh no! That hurts!" The man yells. He lets Penny go and runs away. Penny is safe now. The ant and the bird become good friends. They are happy.
