Located on Fremont Street in Downtown Las Vegas, NV, the Golden Gate Hotel and Casino is the oldest and smallest hotel on Fremont Street. The property traces its roots back to 1905 when John F. Miller opened a temporary tent hotel, the Miller Hotel. By 1906, he finished constructing a permanent hotel building, Hotel Nevada. Inside the hotel was a fully functioning casino, which continued to operate until Nevada's statewide gambling ban in 1909. In 1931, gambling was legal again and the hotel and casino was back up and running under the name, Sal Sagev, which is Las Vegas spelled backwards. It wasn't until 1955 that the hotel and casino changed its name to Golden Gate and in 1974 the official name became the Golden Gate Hotel and Casino. It wasn't until somewhat recent years that the property was renovated. First small renovations took place in 2005 and then 2012 came major renovations. The $12 million renovations included expanding the hotel tower, adding casino floor space for additional gaming, and a high limit gaming area. Today, the casino is owned by Derek and Greg Stevens who own and operate an investment company, Desert Rock Enterprises. This 122-room hotel and casino is one of the more unique properties you can find downtown. Its exact location on the Fremont Street Experience is directly across from The Plaza Hotel & Casino on the Main Street side, adjacent to the Golden Nugget Las Vegas Hotel & Casino and across from Flamingo's Gambling Hall on Fremont Street. Like most Downtown Las Vegas golden casino online gate casinos, the parking options are limited and few and far between. There is no parking structure associated with Golden Gate so you will have to find a nearby surface lot, which typically costs around $10-$15. There is also a parking structure at the nearby Golden Nugget. The hotel advertises free valet parking as well but it is not clear if you need to be a guest of the hotel or not, however, that is likely the case.

Another point to consider is that Golden Gate does not offer any dining options. It is casino online golden gate safe to assume this Downtown Las Vegas casino is all about the party atmosphere and gambling that takes place on the casino floor. And while there is no entertainment offered by the hotel inside, all you have to do is step outside to enjoy the Fremont Street Experience. Often times, there are live bands, street performers, and many other activities happening outside directly on Fremont Street.
