The slot machine will print out a ticket when you cash out instead of coin. You can take this ticket/voucher to any cage for redemption or you can insert the voucher into another voucher game and credits will be issued to you on the machine. When you cash out at that game a new ticket will be printed and issued.

To begin with, an electronic slot machine or online slot game uses a software concept called an array to represent each reel. Computer arrays work like rows of boxes, where each box holds one piece of information. The arrays for slot reels may have anywhere from 22 to 256 slots. Each slot in the array holds a symbol marker that tells the slot machine game what to display on the screen.
