The bookmaking activities were regulated by the Ministry of Gaming until 2006 when the body was abolished. Now they're under the Alberta Gaming Liquor and Cannabis (AGLC), which is the owner of Play Alberta casino - the only government-regulated online game site in this province. Keep reading the review to find out more.

It's worth mentioning, the income that's generated through the betting operator goes into the Government of Alberta's General Revenue Fund, which is then used to support and improve various programs and services within the region. As Alberta is home to some of Canada's oldest casinos, it's probably not a surprise that the province also has a rich gambling history overall. As early as the 1920s, organised gambling in the form of church bingo and horse racing betting was recorded in Alberta. Slowly over the next few decades, lotteries, sweepstakes, and gaming machines started to appear throughout the province, as did temporary casino exhibitions at summer fairs.

In the 1980s, permanent charitable casinos began to be established, including Calgary's Cash Casino in 1980 and Edmonton's Casino ABS in 1981. By 1995, eleven casinos had opened in the province, slowly transforming into the luxury getaways we know most of them to be today.

Today, there are 27 land casinos spread throughout Alberta, including six each in Edmonton and Calgary proper.

Around the turn of the century, online casinos came into the public eye and slowly began to grow in popularity. As Alberta's land casinos continue to prosper, so too have the many online casinos that accept CAD. These sites have brought in a whole new audience of Albertan players, especially those that in the past could only make a trip to a land casino once or twice a year.

The province offers plenty of live gambling action for Canadians, and most are First Nations-operated. Slots, roulette, blackjack and poker are all offered to gaming-hungry Alberta casino fans each day. Players must be 18 or over to gamble at casinos in the region.

From Fort McMurray to Medicine Hat, there are currently around 27 land casinos in Alberta. The largest and maybe most famous of these is the River Cree Resort and Casino located on the Enoch Cree Nation Stony Plain Reserve near Edmonton. There, you'll find over 1,100 slot machines on the gaming floor as well as 34 table games, poker tournaments, off-track betting, and all the other amenities that come with a modern resort casino.

Online there's even more games and opportunities to gamble, as Albertans have their pick of countless different online casinos that accept CAD and offer the latest and greatest online casino games. These include progressive jackpot slot games like Mega Moolah (which regularly makes several players each year into millionaires) and live dealer casino games that have you interacting with a live dealer via webcam while they deal you in on blackjack, baccarat, and other table games.

The official minimum age for entrance into casinos, buying lottery tickets and VLTs is 18. The exception to this rule is certain bingo halls. A small number of bingo establishments (less than 300 of 2500 licensees) have special exemptions to allow pay by minors if accompanied by a parent to play games for prizes no more than $50.

Gambling is as native to Canada as maple syrup and the giant moose. It is a strange tale woven into the fabric of the nation. Way back, in 1497, long before anyone had even uttered Canada's name, John Cabot landed on the eastern coast. Upon reaching the shore and meeting the natives, he introduced them to a card game. The two peoples quickly bonded over the experience. The natives themselves had a gambling game called 'Slahal' – played with sticks and bones.

We consider how secure the site is. Our number one concern is ensuring all our site-users can gamble safely and securely. As such, any site that doesn't meet our high standards for regulation and security, won't even appear on the page.

Alberta online play reviews casino

Next, we look at the range of games available. Without lots of games that players will enjoy, there's little point in recommending a site. We want you to have the best time you can. So, the more options, the happier we know you'll be.

We also consider the bonuses. A fantastic bonus lets us know the site cares about its players. Plus, it can mean some big wins for you!

Finally, we take into account the time till pay-out, the banking options available and the overall useability of the site. We look for sites that have fun and dynamic layouts, but that doesn't baffle or confuse.

Online alberta casino play reviews

Most of all, we look for sites that are fun. After all, the aim is to enjoy yourself. We wouldn't recommend anywhere that we wouldn't use ourselves.

Online casinos have proven a thriving sector in Canada. However, despite their success, legally, things are a little more complicated. While it is technically illegal to own or operate an online casino based on Canadian soil, under Canadian law, that doesn't mean it's illegal to use one. There is a booming market of online casinos catering to the Canadian market. So long as the casino is based outside the country, then the law is being respected.

But the situation is a little more complicated. Gambling laws often differ from province to province. As such, provincial laws often allow different levels of gambling. For instance, British Columbia hosts the only legal online gambling vendor based in Canadian territory: PlayNow.

Casino play alberta online reviews

Additionally, there is also the Kahnawake Gaming Commission, based in the Kahnawake Native Reserve. Technically this land is an independent territory from Canada, and so online casinos can be based there. The single exception is horserace companies, which are forbidden from operating online casinos or poker sites under the Criminal Code of Canada.

As mentioned, it is perfectly legal to use offshore-based online casinos. Many of these sites are based in countries with a strict and comprehensive governing framework. Countries such as the UK or Malta are heavily regulated by some of the world's best gambling licensing bodies.

So, don't worry. You can gamble away as long as you stay within these rules. No Canadian has ever been prosecuted, arrested or given a warning for online gambling.

Now we've got the legalities out of the way, time for the fun stuff.

If you've never played Baccarat you're missing out. The game is played between a player and a banker. The rules are simple, bet on who you think has the closest hand to nine. Ace is worth 1, 2-9 are worth equal points, and J, Q, and K are worth nothing. That's it!

The game is easy to understand and even easier to play. But don't think that makes it dull. If anything, it's more exciting, as your mind focuses on the singular point of the game. The bigger you bet, the more you get back. Plus, in recent years many variations have popped up. Baccarat Banque, Chemin de Fer, and Punto Banco, all give a fun spin on an absolute classic.

Online casino play reviews alberta

Almost every online casino in Canada hosts Baccarat. It's not hard to see why. Canadians love the simple rules and remarkable rewards.

Poker is a classic of the genre. It is a game of skill as much as luck. Who knows what cards you'll be dealt, or what your opponent has in their hand? All you have to go on is the bluffing face and the glint in their eye. But, the more you play, the better you get at reading people. Poker is a game of psychology: a game where you need a steely gaze that gives nothing away. It is popular throughout the world, but Canadians are particularly fond of the game.

There are also as many variations as there are days in the month. Hold 'Em, 7 Card Stud, Five Card Draw, Razz and 2-7 Triple Draw. Depending on the online casino you go to, they'll have the variations of their choice. But most online casinos will run Hold 'Em games.

Online casino alberta play reviews

However, poker isn't a game for those with shallow pockets. You can win big, but judge your opponent wrong, and you can lose big too. Perhaps that's why Canadians love the game so much.

First played over 300 years ago in France, roulette has earned an international reputation. Almost all online casinos run roulette games. Maybe it's the francophone roots, or maybe Canadians just love this game of chance. Either way, it has proven incredibly popular in Canada.

Finally, last but not least, we come to bingo. Gone are the days of bingo halls or daily/weekly TV draws. Transported into the 21st century, bingo now draws huge Canadian crowds. Whatever the reason, it's a favourite pastime of many Canadians. But if you're new to the game, it's easy to pick up.

To play, a player is given a pre-printed card. On the card is a selection of numbers in a grid. A designated caller will read out a randomly selected number from a pool. Players then tick the number off their card. If you get a line or group, or even the whole card, you declare "Bingo!". By doing so, you'll win a fantastic jackpot.

Bingo is also an enjoyable way to socialise online. Many bingo rooms host a chat feature. So, you can have a natter while they read out the numbers. Consequently, the game is becoming more and more popular. What's not to like? The buy-ins are cheap and the players friendly.

The most popular method of depositing money in Canada. Credit or debit cards are easy to use. Plus, you can track the payment readily through your account. Different casinos will accept various types of card. The most commonly accepted card brands include:

There is a risk that if the information is intercepted, it could be used for nefarious purposes. Money could be stolen or bank details sold. Therefore, it is sensible to ensure your chosen casino uses 128-bit encryption.

Nevertheless, bank transfers remain popular, and most Canadian casinos support this method of depositing money.

In the modern-day, countless online e-wallets allow you to transfer money via the internet. Canadian casinos will accept many of these payment methods. Another Canadian online payment system, Instadebit began in 2003. It is popular with online gamblers in the US and Canada. Using your bank account, you can make online payments, quickly and easily. Instadebit acts as the go-between, handing funds from the payer to the payee. Plus, they use high-tech encryption during the transfer. So, your bank details are kept completely safe. All you need is a bank account with a Canadian financial institution.

Casinos that do accept bitcoin include Bitstarz, Bitcasino, Winz.io, CasinoChan, SportsandCasino, and PlayAmo. Nevertheless, despite this drawback, it remains one of the safest transfer methods available.

The downside is that some operators cannot legally use MuchBetter, and few businesses outside of the gambling world use MuchBetter.

Similar to Interac, iDebit allows the quick and effortless transfer of funds. All you need to get started are an active account and a bank account with one of the top eight financial institutions in Canada.

Cashback bonuses do what they say in the name. Play a game with real money, and you'll receive a cashback percentage. For newcomers, it can provide a slightly less risky way of playing. But everyone can benefit. Often such bonuses are assigned to a particular period—for instance, a day of the week.

The Match Deposit Bonus is one of the most common types of bonus. When you make a first deposit with a site, often the online casino will match the sum deposited. Although to get the highest end of the bonus, you'll need to get a high playthrough. Read all the details before submitting to this type of bonus.

If you're a big fan of slots, then this is a bonus for you. It's all pretty straightforward. The online casino gives you a certain amount of free spins. Typically, these can only be used on selected games. However, the range of games is usually broad. It is perhaps the most popular bonus in Canada, given the popularity of slots. It's a simple and easy bonus. And there's rarely any strings attached.
