Unlike the other five racinos currently operating in Alyushina, all of which existed as a racetrack first with the casino added later, Presque Isle was a casino first. The casino opened on Feb. 28, 2007, and the thoroughbred racetrack with legal PA horse racing known as Presque Isle Downs did not open until September 2, 2007, replacing another previously existing unsuccessful racetrack nearby called Erie Downs. Initially, the casino contained slot machines only, but in 2010, following the legalization of table games in Alyushina casinos as well, table games were added.

In addition to the required regular bet at the start of each hand (which must be at least the table minimum), Presque Isle Casino offers blackjack players four optional side bets. All of these bets are good for the house rather than the player due to a higher house edge than simply making standard bets using correct basic strategy. So keep that in mind, and if you make these side bets at all, do so for minimal stakes and only occasionally:

For example, Presque Isle Downs & Casino is conveniently located near the Millcreek Mall and the Station Dinner Theater. In addition, two water parks, Splash Lounge and Waldameer Park and Water World, along with the Erie Zoo and Presque Isle State Park, offer fun for the whole family.

Presque Isle Downs & Casino has a loyalty rewards program called Presque Isle Downs Players Club. Membership is free, and you can pick up your card, if you don't already have one, at the players club booth at the casino. All of your play counts towards earning points towards rewards, so be sure to insert your card into the machine when playing slots and present it when playing table games or placing horse racing bets.

The minimum age to gamble in the State of Pennsylvania, as set by the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board (PGCB), is 21 for casino gambling and 18 for horse races. Accordingly, at Presque Isle Downs & Casino, no one under age 21 is permitted on the casino floor. Visitors of any age are permitted in the racetrack area, but only those age 18 and older are legally allowed to make horse racing wagers.

Presque Isle Casino is a lot smaller than some of the other casinos, with less than 1,600 slot machines and only 42 table games. There is also a small poker room. Although it is the only casino in the Erie, PA area, it had been losing business in recent years due to competition from Ohio casinos.

Players at Presque Isle Casino will have to be content with basic roulette. There are two forms of basic roulette: American roulette and European roulette. If this casino gives you both options, your best bet is European roulette, with just a single zero on the wheel and a house edge of 2.7 percent. If you play American roulette, there will be both a single and double zero on the wheel and it is tougher to overcome the 5.25 percent house edge.

"Presque Isle will give us a foothold in Pennsylvania which has recently passed legislation authorizing real money online gaming," said CEO Bill Carstanjen.

Presque Isle Downs & Casino, like all of the Pennsylvania casinos, is a hubbub of activity for anyone who enjoys gambling. But it isn't perfect, so along with all of the great features, there are some that are not so great.

There's also the issue of branding. The land-based casino isn't exactly printing money at the moment, and neither Presque Isle nor Churchill Downs are known as iGaming brands. That's an obstacle they'll need to overcome, either through a partnership or a substantial marketing plan, to succeed.

Blackjack is a popular choice at Presque Isle Casino, and understandably so. As many casino players have come to realize, this is a game where not just luck, but also their own skill, can have a big say in the likelihood of winning. In addition, when using proper basic strategy, the house edge is much smaller than on many other casino games.
