There are websites claiming to have software that can help you beat, cheat or hack an online casino. You will have to pay for the software which won't work. The software will likely be full of viruses, malware or worse. If software really did exist that could cheat a casino, you would likely end up in prison for using it.

Online slots makers offer their games across a broad range of internet casinos. And the return to player (RTP) is the same at each casino site. Playing games in the latter category gives you a better chance to win on each spin. This means that you'll earn money on a more consistent basis and have a better chance of sustaining your bankroll.

Using those photocopies, he created accounts at casinos, this way getting $50 no deposit bonuses. Then he was losing each bonus, placing five bets, and was repeating the same scheme. When the slot gave out a big win, he was playing the wagering requirements using the bonuses and withdrawing the winnings on a particular payment system.

The keyword with all this is theoretical, because you can never perfectly predict your short-term losses or winnings.

The short answer is yes, it's possible. The longer answer: yes it's possible but so difficult that it's not even worth it. Casino hacking dates back to the physical slot machines where it was possible to cheat a slot machine with a magnet! In this way, you were able to manipulate a slot machine while playing at the physical casino. However, many casinos are present online, which is why hacking became much more difficult.

You also want to avoid falling for the psychological tricks that surround slot machines. This means realizing that LDWs are actually losses, and the graphics, theme, and music are designed to keep you playing longer.

Land-based casinos make it more difficult to figure out how much you win back. But you can use the coin denominations to make a rough estimation.

But the average slot machine forces you to figure out hit frequency based on pay table info. And the key factors that you want to look at include jackpot size, number of large payouts, and the number of small prizes.

This can be affected based on how quickly you're spinning the reels and how fast the slot machine moves. A game with multiple bonus features and animations moves slower than a game without the same features.

Players obviously can't just cash out bonuses right away, because the casino would lose a fortune. Therefore, you need to meet wagering requirements before the money is officially yours.

Finding RTP for land-based slot machines is a more-difficult matter. The main reason why is because each casino can order different payback for the same slot machine.

Standard wagering requirements for an online slots deposit bonus is 40 times the reward. Here's an example of how this plays out:

Whether it's how to hack online casino slots, tables games or live casino, we've all wondered what it'd be.

Hit frequency is another important hack to remember, especially if you're dealing with a small bankroll. The more payouts you can win back in the short term, the better chance you have of maintaining your bankroll.

While it hasn't been abolished, many online casinos have long taken measures against those who try to hack online casino games and they continue to develop new methods of stopping people who hack online casino software in this way.

Unfortunately, there are providers that don't list RTP on the help screen or publish it online. Therefore, you're left in the dark regarding how much these games pay back.

Unfortunately, counting cards does not work for live table games or at online casinos. Card counting requires that you, as a player, know how many decks of cards are in the dealer's shoe- the device from which they're drawing cards.

They crunched the numbers and figured out a way to cheat the casino out of a sum of money. Still, we're only telling you this today because the word got out and they got punished for it.

All of the abovementioned methods of hacking will need you to gain access to the innards of the slot machine. The universal key for slot machines is a high-precision product that allows you to easily open any standard 7-pin lock. Such round locks are more complicated in comparison to regular locks. Such a key will not leave any signs of entry, in contrast to forcing it open. Using such a key will not take a lot of time, and it won't require any special instruments or skills from the hacker.

Looking at the house edge is a good way to determine your EV because this shows how much you'll win back in the long term. For example, a slot machine with 96% payback is offering -4% EV since you're losing 4% on each wager.

Therefore, anybody who's going around to different slot machines to find the hot games is wasting their time. But this isn't to say that you can't use certain means to figure out which slots will pay frequently.

You need to play online slots if your main focus is winning the most money. The reason why is because internet slots offer higher payback on average than land-based games.

The only problem is that slots are one of the toughest games in terms of bankroll management. It's hard to calculate how many bets (a.k.a. units) the average player loses.

Some slots list their payback on the help screen. Thunderkick and Quickspin are two companies that feature RTP on their games' help screens.

The downside to playing large coin denomination slots is that your theoretical losses will be higher. Here's a comparison between playing Foxwoods' $0.25 and $1 denomination slots:

Online slots operate according to an RNG (Random Number Generator) which means that every spin result is chosen completely at random and independent of the previous spin.

A single player isn't going to make a progressive jackpot grow very quickly. But these prizes increase rapidly when thousands of players are making bets.

You can use this method to find RTP for many online slot machines. Another way to accomplish this goal is by looking at a game's help screen.

Online casinos almost always stick to the 0.1% rate. They do this by awarding one comp point for every $10 wagered.

As we said earlier, the casino cannot afford to let all the players win constantly. A casino is a business that should make a profit. So gambling houses constantly identify cheaters, patch the holes in the security systems, and fix the online casino cheat software bugs, and players, in turn, find new ways about how to hack online casino rules. It turns out a kind of casino war.

Even though quarter slot machines offer lower payback, your theoretical losses will be smaller. But if you like betting more per spin anyways, then you should take advantage of higher payback with larger coin denominations.

Many players are unaware of the psychology at play with slot machines. Game makers use everything from enticing graphics to triumphant sound effects to keep people playing longer.

This is nice for casinos because they can customize slots RTP to their liking. But this makes it tougher for players to figure out what kind of payback they can look forward to.

These are essentially the hot slot machines because they offer more prizes. If winning frequently is important to you, then it should look for slots with small jackpots and a larger number of small payouts.

Slot machines don't seem to involve much strategy. All you do is push the spin button over and over and let the reels do the rest.

This doesn't seem like much, but it adds up when considering how fast people play slots. Here's an example:

Again, this is all theoretical and based on the idea that you can actually win the jackpot. Chances are that you'll never win a huge payout like this in your lifetime.

You don't have a visual line of sight to the shoe at virtual casinos. So even though you might not be making any card counting mistakes in your head, you'll still be off count because you can't be sure of the number of decks the dealer is taking from.

But there are some things you can do to greatly improve your chances of beating slot machines. And what's nice is that anybody can quickly use these slots hacks to win more.

The other popular illegal approach has nothing to do with software. It's called player colluding, and it's when players come together to form a group of sorts so that they can join certain poker rooms with pots or a roulette table, for example, and work together to stage a big win for one of the members. They then split the money among themselves.

The standard contribution amount is 2% of every wager. This means that a $1 bet would contribute $0.02 to the jackpot.

The 7 hacks that I'm going to discuss in this post can be used right now. Others can be used within a few minutes after doing simple research on your smartphone.

You can see that most Nevada slot machines offer between 93.06% and 95.03% payback. The outlier is penny slot machines, which only offer 90.17% RTP on average.

Nowadays, online poker and all the other table games and live games are practically hack-proof unless you're using illegal online casino cheat software. You can even find cheat software that allows you to hack a slot machine with phones.

I'm not advocating that you dump your entire bankroll into progressive slots. After all, the base payback on most of these games isn't as good as a normal slot.

A study from the University of British Columbia (UBC) found that many players fall into a "slot machine zone," where they become completely immersed in the game and ignore everything else around them.
