I downloaded this because of the Trisha Paytas slot machine. I have played others for years and there isn't anything particularly better or worse than this app compared to others so I'm not sure why others seem to not like it. Buying coins is optional (and unnecessary since you get more every hour and/or can watch ads), how much you bet is optional, which game to play is optional... not too sure why others don't enjoy it ::shrug:: I have mine linked to Facebook just so I don't potentially lose any progress, especially if there's an update or if using on a different device BUT if I win big or something else that "requires" a post, I just clicked the X to close it so it doesn't actually post. You still get the rewards you were getting without clogging the news feed or any of the other negative affects of posting to Facebook. I can't stand those either. Hopefully that helps someone who might otherwise not link them or think you have to post it. I don't let it automatically do it for me for that reason too.

The essence of this casino is not just about offering a wide range of games. Instead, it prides itself on allowing players to have fun while playing these games. We have noted a common trend where most players choose specific games and stick to them once they become their favorite. You can decide to do so, but it does not hurt to try something new from time to time.

I have been playing Slotomania for years. When it first started, i would play about every other day, the slots were more simple, but it was fun and you were able to keep playing for while. Then, the game added more extra features over time, along with a lot more advertising and ways to entice you to spend real-world money. I almost stopped playing it and actually deleted it about a year ago. But i friends who play and loaded it back so i could send them points. Lately though, i've noticed slotomania has made changes, there are still lots of ads, but there are not as many that pop up and interrupt you, slotoquest with the star system was much less annoying and didnt force you to play a cold slot to move forward, and there seem to be more times when more slots have their win percentage increased - kudos to Playtika for listening to its customers to make improvements.

Suggestion - add at least 3 slots at each point in the path in slotquest so we dont get stuck on a forever cold slot like mighty bronc (you can remove that one from your lineup and I would be happy) because having to blow billions of points on a slot that that is paying out at 5% is truly not fun... just aggravating. Thank you for improving your game, I am playing it almost every night now and mostly having fun. Ive event sent you guys a few dollars here and there when i have a little extra disposable income. Keep improving.
