Blackjack online best casino the

If you're looking for the best online blackjack for real money, there are several points to take into consideration. You wouldn't want to risk putting your money into a rigged casino, would you? But if you don't have the time or resources to do a good research, we recommend reading our extensive commentary. It's the result of months of research done by our experts, who have had years of experience in the industry.

Security at blackjack online casinos is vital. To make sure everything checks out, a player should look at a few aspects. The first one is regulation. Regarding this aspect, there are three types of casinos. First, there are unregulated casinos. Then, there are the ones with regulation in Malta, Gibraltar, Antigua, and Curacao. Finally, there are the ones regulated not only in the offshore zones we have mentioned but also in the countries where they operate. For example, the regulating body for the UK is the UK Gambling Commission. We recommend that you find out which agency or other regulatory body issues gambling licenses in your jurisdiction and that you register only with casinos that have been licensed and are monitored by it.

The third aspect to consider before playing at a blackjack online casino is RNG testing and fairness. RNG, which stands for random number generator, guarantees that the outcome of casino games is random. Now, random does not necessarily equal fair. Computer programs used in casinos work with pseudo-random number generators. They don't need numbers or data to produce an output. They usually use algorithms and seed numbers.

Casino online the best blackjack

What a player should be interested in is actually the RTP, or return to player, because that's what speaks of the fairness of the games. Another key thing is the shuffling algorithm – some operators provide details and audit reports of how card decks are shuffled. If you want to be sure a site is fair, however, don't just take their word for it. Instead, look for the logo of an independent laboratory like eCOGRA and iTechLabs – third-party testing is the ultimate guarantee for fairness.

When it comes to the software of blackjack sites, there are better-known and less-known developers, yet all of them strive to create high-quality games. There are more than 15 software providers, with the leading ones being Microgaming, Playtech, IGT, NextGen, and NetEnt. But building awesome games with entertaining features is only part of what software companies do. They are also responsible for the creation and implementation of gaming platforms. Apart from the traditional download and instant play, two other platforms have become a must in the last couple of years – live and mobile.

There are two ways to play blackjack online – download and instant play – and there is no right or wrong way to do it. The advantages and disadvantages of each way are well-known, and the only question is which will be more popular in the future. Downloading a game of blackjack will provide you with better graphics, sound, and more stability. It will take space on your computer, however, as well as some time to install. Instant play will take no space but will require a faster internet connection and may be of poorer quality. It will allow you, though, to switch between games and casinos without having to install first.

Blackjack casino the best online

We've mentioned the basic pros and cons. However, a good internet connection is no longer an issue, which means download casinos will probably be dying out. The quality and stability of instant play have improved considerably. So, we won't be surprised if instant play made download apps redundant. The process has started, with most of the games these days being instant play. Moreover, the download casino is much more expensive to develop.

You may play live blackjack alone at a VIP table or with many others at the Blackjack Party – the famous table created by Evolution Gaming. A unique feature of the party table is the presence of two dealers, who successfully create a lively atmosphere with their constant chatting. Thanks to the bet behind option, an unlimited number of players can enjoy blackjack at this table. The bet behind option is one of three side bets – the others being perfect pairs and 21+3 – that have become a standard for live games. Bet behind means you'll be betting on another player's hand and leaving decisions, such as whether to stand or hit, to that player.

One of the key features of playing online is variety, so bear that in mind when searching for the best blackjack site. There are many variations, with different rules and settings, betting limits and side bets, and even progressive jackpots. The first difference a player will notice is the presence/absence of side bets, with the most common being bet behind, 21+3, and perfect pairs. There are various types of blackjack, such as peek, progressive, switch, and surrender.

Let's start from the basics and talk about classic casino blackjack. These rules apply to online and land-based casinos alike. The game is played on a semi-circular table for one to seven players, with one to eight card decks. The Ace is valued at 1 or 11 points, 10s and face cards – at 10 points, and cards from 2 to 9 – according to their pip value. The highest possible hand is a blackjack, also known as natural, which is made of an ace and a face card. A natural normally pays 3 to 2. Get familiar with some of the most widely used techniques of play at our blackjack strategy page.

Side bets make the game even more fun. You place a separate wager apart from blackjack in the hope of getting a successful card combination. For example, perfect pairs will pay out for two paired cards, depending on color and suit. With 21+3, you're looking for a poker hand, which takes into account your first two cards plus the dealer's face-up card. You'll get a nice payout for 3 of a kind, flush, straight, etc.

Online casinos offer a wonderful opportunity for blackjack newbies – you can practice what you have learned, play for fun or try your luck with plenty of free games online. The best blackjack sites offer demo versions to play for free. The majority of options are instant play and require only a flash player and good internet speed. The best thing about playing in demo mode is that you can never lose. However, that's also a major drawback, because you're also missing out on potential winnings.

Blackjack casino the best online

Experimenting and practicing is one thing, but when you play real money blackjack online, you'll see the game on a whole new level. The focus, the thrill, the entertainment – they all increase by a million when real cash is involved. Imagine getting a natural early in the morning while drinking your coffee. What a way to start your day! Blackjack is a game of both skill and luck, so once you are familiar with the basic strategy, playing with real money is the next step.

This blackjack variation seems rather simple. Upon receiving an Ace or a 10-valued card, the dealer will peek at their face-down card.

When you play blackjack long enough, you will notice that there are certain situations when you can tell the positive outcome isn't very likely. That's when the option to give up your hand but still not lose your wager may come handy.

Casino blackjack online the best

The first time you hear the name of this game, you might think that its objective is to draw a perfect natural, say an Ace and a Jack of Spades. But that is not the case.

Once in a while, you might want to try some of the exciting slots and classic table games with your blackjack winnings. It is a good idea to have as many options available as possible, just in case. Having a variety of games at your disposal is important and will guarantee you hours of pure fun. So, bear that in mind when picking your favorite blackjack casino site.

Probably the most popular bonus at casino sites, the cashable bonus will be offered to you from the moment you sign up. There is usually a wagering requirement, so you'll have to play through your bonus between 25 and 60 times before you can cash it out. These conditions have to be fulfilled within a certain timeframe. But once you complete the requirements, the money is available for withdrawal, and that's great.

Blackjack casino online the best

The sticky bonus is a playable but non-cashable bonus. It is also known as a free play bonus. Claim a sticky bonus, and you'll get money to play with, but you won't be able to withdraw it. Furthermore, if you decide to leave the casino, the bonus money will be taken from your balance. It's not as bad as it might seem, though, and this still is a pretty good deal. With the right sticky bonus, you'll get to keep your winnings.

At some casinos, you will get a cashback percentage on your net losses, which will go straight to your account. Sometimes, these funds are even withdrawable once you receive them. However, there may be some wagering requirements. What you should know is that the cashback percentage usually differs depending on the level the player is at – it makes sense that the higher up the tiers you go, the better it will be.

You might not think about it yet, but sooner or later – hopefully, sooner – the time will come to withdraw your winnings. To make your life easier when you decide to cash out, look for casinos that have a wide variety of options for both deposit and withdrawal. Furthermore, the fact that the casino works with a large number of payment providers is a sign that it is legitimate and reliable. You will visit the casino cashier when depositing and will probably find a good selection of methods. However, note that having many deposit options doesn't guarantee getting an equal variety of withdrawal methods.

Great customer care is not an absolute necessity in this industry, but it is a benefit. The best blackjack casinos have had years of experience, and their customer service works like a well-oiled machine. They also have good FAQ and help sections, which will answer most of your questions. Still, it is better to be able to contact the casino support team when you need to. And if you happen to have a casino emergency, just choose your method of contact. We have listed the methods and rated the customer support of each of the casinos in our detailed reviews.

Despite being slots-oriented, as the name Sloto'Cash suggests, this casino has everything a blackjack fan needs. Sloto'Cash is one of the oldest online casinos accepting US players.

Launched as a sports betting platform, bet365 is now considered one of the most successful business ventures in the UK.

Betway is mostly recognized for its casino. The website boasts an impressive variety of games and titles, and blackjack is well-represented in terms of number, variations, and bonuses.

Playing blackjack at an online casino can be entertaining and enjoyable, but at the end of the day it all comes down to winning. And since we all like the thought of coming out on top, it's smart to come to the party prepared. Take advantage of the list with the most frequent questions online players ask. We hope these will make things clearer and help you decide to play blackjack online.

There are many options online, and some of them are really good. When choosing a site, look for trustworthy casinos with proper regulation, secure transactions, several payment methods, and a decent selection of blackjack games. Last but not least, reputable casinos are tested by an independent organization, such as iTechLabs.

Casino online best the blackjack

Yes, most of the casinos on the internet offer blackjack. Now, the number of games and variations vary. Having more games at one's disposal is a good thing – the richer the portfolio, the more choice a player has. However, quality is often more important than quantity.

Most sites offer perks to players for simply registering an account, and most of these can be used to play blackjack. The amount of the bonus and its conditions, however, are different, so make sure the bonus can be used to play your favorite game before you claim it.

When it comes to live blackjack, you can see the real dealer deal for you, the shoe – changed, and the cards – shuffled. Everything's on display, so the question of unfair play doesn't come up so often. With RNG blackjack, however, players often wonder. While there are rogue casinos where anything is possible, the sites we review are 100% fair and the blackjack games can't be rigged.

The online casino best blackjack

Yes, you can. That's one of the advantages of playing online. It is easier than you think because nobody can prevent you from printing the charts and checking with them before every move. That's easier with RNG games and a bit harder with live blackjack – simply because live games tend to be fast-paced. But it's nothing a little practise can't fix. Surely, the situation is very different at land-based casinos, where looking up your every move might be frowned upon even if it's not against the casino blackjack rules.

Our reviews are the result of research and testing made by gaming experts who are also blackjack enthusiasts, as you can gather from the many times you will come across the phrase "our favorite game" on our website. We've tested and evaluated each casino objectively and presented our opinion honestly, so when it comes to our reviews, you can trust them completely.

We have quoted the Return to Player percentage of the different RNG variants in the respective game reviews. As for live blackjack odds, these are determined by the number of decks and dealer rules like whether the dealer stands on soft 17 or not. Beware that better odds do not necessarily mean you'll win more.

Best casino the online blackjack

You can find RNG blackjack with bets as low as $0.10. The minimum bet when playing at a live table is usually $5. Still, you can get to play live blackjack with lower stakes. For instance, when you bet behind. When you're betting on someone else's hand, wagers start at $0.50.

It's hard to say, mainly because players have different interests – what is entertaining to one may be boring to another. The only way is to try them all and find out for yourself. But first, we recommend you read our reviews to get acquainted with game variations and features. Then again, you don't have to settle on just one variation, just like you don't have to settle on one casino only. If you want to play online blackjack, casinos comparison may be helpful. That's how you'll find out the best blackjack games for you.

These five online blackjack sites are the top options that meet these criteria, while also meeting my safety, licencing and security requirements.

The welcome bonus is always a topic of interest for casino gaming enthusiasts, especially in finding out how favourable the conditions are for players. You will learn more about this topic further down the page.

There are a lot of other intricacies to the popular card game that I have separated into their own holistic articles, which you can peruse at your leisure simply through the navigation buttons below.

The market is flooded with online casinos where you can play online blackjack, but not all of them are worth your time. The top five you see above are all licensed by the United Kingdom Gambling Commission (UKGC) as having a fair and safe gaming environment.

As well as meeting high fairness standards, which I'll discuss in another section, they have also not just met, but exceeded expectations in five other important factors.

Let's get some more details on these five criteria in the sections below, where you will learn all about the different variants of the game, how to identify a decent bonus, what constitutes good customer service and the differences between the live and online versions that are out there.

Good casinos should have a wide selection of different online blackjack products. In fact, there are very few blackjack casino sites who will only provide the base game and nothing else. Alongside the base game you'll find many variations that slightly tweak the rules.

Blackjack casino the best online

For example, there are variants where the player must take back their chips if the result is a tie, or ones where you can switch cards between your two hands. Try out the demo game below for free.

There are lots of new and innovative variants online which are worlds apart from traditional versions. Take, for example, Playtech's 21 Duel Blackjack, which changes how cards are dealt. Also, the maximum number of cards that are permitted in a hand is three.

Another interesting variant is Blackjack Switch. In this, you play with two hands and have the option to switch your top cards between hands to improve your chances of winning. Below you can find the most popular titles available online. Read full reviews and to try your favourite in demo mode.

The above selection is just an introduction to the different online blackjack varieties that are available out there, but it does a fantastic job at highlighting the creations of the industry's leading software developers such as powerhouses Microgaming, Playtech and NetEnt, alongside up-and-coming Reading-based firm Realistic Games.

It is always a good idea to read the rules of every version before you begin to play, as small differences can be found even in two games with the same name. These differences may seem small, but can make a huge difference.

Take a look at some of the most popular live blackjack games in action.

Casino blackjack best online the

Casino games with real dealers are extremely popular, and pretty much all live casinos provide numerous different tables. However, there aren't many special variants of this game available in the live stream.

Apart from the classic version, you might find Blackjack Party from leading live developer Evolution Gaming, which significantly plays up the fun factor. While it follows the usual basic rules, the entertainment is taken to a whole new level with not one, but two dealers at the helm.

They're typically quite chatty and upbeat, with lots of banter up their sleeves. This live table takes stakes from as low as 50p, so low rollers and casual players will appreciate this setup.

Online best blackjack the casino

You can also let the choice of dealers guide your selection, and check for any desired side bet options. The chat functionality is available in all live offerings, so you won't ever be left hanging if you feel like socializing while playing.

If you are interested in playing live, two of the best choices are 888casino, and BetVictor offers more than 35 different live tables.

As the popularity of smartphones and tablets continues to grow exponentially, blackjack has become increasingly popular on portable devices, as result, the best blackjack games can be found on mobile devices.

Best online the blackjack casino

Many operators also have dedicated apps that you can download for iOS or Android, but mobile-optimised blackjack sites are the way of the future. However, this is a relatively new development and so there are fewer casino games available on a mobile casino than on a desktop version.

Much more information on this topic can be found in this mobile blackjack article, which gives you recommendations on the best apps for blackjack.

Included in important criteria for being heralded as one of my top six blackjack casinos is ease of use in all aspects, such as its payment systems. Having a good variety of options for its users to choose between when making a deposit or withdrawal is a good first step.

Blackjack online the casino best

I have made sure to include operators that, of course, offer credit cards as a standard, as well as accepting eWallets and prepaid debit cards such as paysafecard. One of the most popular methods of payment for blackjack players is PayPal.

PayPal has become a go-to option for leading operators thanks to its usability, immediacy and simplicity. The operator above is a great option as one of the best online casinos with the eWallet option, where you can fund your real money gaming on many variants with ease.

Alongside these popular and well-used methods are some newer alternatives, such as paying with Bitcoin. This is still a pretty new system for the industry so I won't go into too much detail, but you can read more about it here.

Blackjack casino the best online

A bonus that is specifically provided for blackjack is a rarity. However, many welcome offers for new players can be used to play online blackjack.

When looking out for a good bonus, it is not simply the amount you get that you should pay attention to. Having favourable conditions is much more important since this is something that will determine how useful a welcome offer will actually be.

Any awarded sum will need to be turned over a certain number of times before you can withdraw any winnings you have made with it, and this wagering requirement varies from one operator to another. You can see details like this and a list of casino bonuses on our dedicated page for bonuses.

Online blackjack casino best the

Also, keep in mind the fact that games with a low house edge will only contribute a small percentage towards meeting the wagering requirements. Since online blackjack has one of the lowest house edges of all offerings, only a small portion of your wagered money will count towards fulfilling the playthrough requirements.

Some operators exclude blackjack wagers from playthrough contributions altogether. Therefore, what you should aim for is a casino that will contribute 10%–20% towards wagering. This can be considered good value for the player, within the scope of options.

It is highly unusual to find higher values than this. Promotions where it counts for less than 10% are simply a waste of your time. It would almost certainly cost you money in the long run.

Best the casino blackjack online

Claiming a welcome offer at an online casino is a choice that you can make, and you are not required to do so. If you have selected a good operator for your gaming experience but aren't interested in the promotion, or if it has tricky bonus conditions, you can opt-out of the promotion on registration.

To save a bit of time, look for Playtech casinos when trying to spot favourable conditions. On sites like Ladbrokes or William Hill, most blackjack titles contribute 20% towards wagering requirements.

One of the best bonus options for this game is at 888Casino, where it contributes a huge 50%. This sum is as yet unmatched by any other operator. If you get tired of the card tables, you'll have a huge choice in other categories, each with plenty of innovative variants.

Blackjack best the casino online

888casino also provides a generous welcome bonus, and a big selection of unique promotions specifically tailored towards live streaming card tables.

The best operators out there will have other types of bonuses available other than just the welcome offers. Many will have seasonal promotions for a short period, time-specific deals on particular days of the week or offers that highlight gameplay styles.

These change quite frequently due to the nature of the promotions, so the promotions in the table below are purely examples. However, the operators listed in my top six blackjack online casinos are well-known for having these kinds of promotions, so check them out and see what's current.

Casino the blackjack best online

Due to the relatively low-risk nature of blackjack at online casinos, the house edge is one of the tightest out there. The potential for players to win money makes the operators less generous with the promotions and bonuses, so there are not a lot of fantastic bonuses around.

When it comes to sticking within your budget, the thing to look out for is the table limits. There are typically both standard and high roller tables available in both live and RNG-based games, and limits are displayed conveniently with each available table.

The table limits are set by each operator, with different developers allowing different limits based on the type of partnership they have.

Casino blackjack online the best

In a brick and mortar casino, table limits are usually quite restrictive – the bet range typically sits between £5 – £100. Online, however, there are betting limits for all types of players. Low stakes games sometimes start from as little as 10p per hand, while some operators offer premier tables for only those with the deepest pockets.

Look no further than 888casino, where stakes of up to £10,000 can be placed once you step into the VIP lounge.

Even though playing blackjack may be your number one priority, the best online casinos will also have other games available to play than just the one card game. In fact, my top 5 casinos will all have anywhere between 200 and 1,000 different titles on their websites.

Casino online best blackjack the

Most of those hundreds of games are slots, and you'll also find selections of roulette and poker varieties as well. This way, if you ever need a break from blackjack or just a little bit of something new to try, you'll be spoilt for choice. For the sites that perform well across the board, see our best online casinos list.

In addition to a varied game selection and a good bonus, the other important consideration with online casinos is fairness and security. You need to be sure that you choose a blackjack site with a valid licence from the UK Gambling Commission.

This government body strictly monitors and regulates online casinos active on the UK market, with the aim to ensure that players are protected, including checking for security measures like data encryption, transparent payment processing, and regular testing of fairness through an accredited testing agency.

Blackjack online the casino best

Another way to check for fairness is to keep a close watch on the payout rates. All titles should have a very low house edge, meaning the return to player rate (RTP) can be relatively high – usually above 98%.

This is very rewarding compared to roulette, which ranges between 94% – 98%, and slots, which can range from around 90% – 97%.

Reputable organizations such as eCOGRA and GLI produce reports showing the actual percentage of all money wagered across games that have been paid out in winnings. Often, you'll see the logo of the testing agency in the footer of the blackjack site, and some casinos even let you access their latest testing reports directly, by clicking that logo.

Casino the best online blackjack

You should, however, bear in mind that these results include wagers on all titles, including side bets. Therefore, the average payout rate will likely be lower than the 98% or more than you can usually expect. However, the overall RTP should still be over 99%. These figures confirm the fairness and integrity of the games.
