Each gambling site has at least one variety of roulette, with Lightning Roulette standing out as one of the more unique options. As you may have guessed from the name, that particular title speeds up the classic casino game. Double-digit Michigan casinos also have live dealer roulette.

Talk about old school. Casino War can be found at some of the best MI online casinos, as well as Dragon Tiger, which is a variation of war. Baccarat and craps are also offered at several Michigan casino sites. The majority of online casinos have live dealer baccarat as well.

Michigan online casinos are also blurring the line between a retail casino and an online site through the use of live dealer games. Amazingly enough, it is possible to play some of your favorite table games with an actual dealer on an actual game table. You can interact with the dealer via an online chat feature, and even tip them just like you do at the casino.

All but two of Michigan’s online casinos (Firekeepers and FourWinds) offer live dealer games, with blackjack, baccarat, roulette and poker among the options. Live dealer provider Evolution Gaming constructed a studio in Southfield, and PlayTech built its first US live studio in suburban Detroit. BetMGM and FanDuel have both launched exclusive live dealer studios in partnership with Evolution.

Live dealer games occur inside specially-designed studios. The apps then broadcast the tables via a live feed. You can play the games in real time as if you were actually on the casino floor itself. In fact, in some cases, casinos don’t even bother with the studio and just wire a roulette table on the floor.

If you’ve ever been to a retail casino, you know that nothing really comes for free. You have to pay for everything. Even the free craps lessons the casino offers come with the hope that you’ll fork over some cash later on in the day when you’re trying out your new “skills.” However, it is possible to play most online slot machines and table games for absolutely nothing. Nearly every game you encounter will ask you if you’d like to play the demo mode or for real money.

Michigan in online when do open casinos

If you choose to play the demo mode, the casino will take you to the actual game you would play for real cash. In most cases, the only functionality that you might not be able to enjoy is a progressive jackpot. Instead, the casino will provide you with a certain amount of play money to use on the machine or game. This amount is usually $1,000 or so, and you can bet however you like. Your play money amount will almost always disappear when you close out the game. So don’t feel as though you have to conserve your resources. Instead, use these credits to enjoy the game as much as you can. If you run out of free credits, simply reload the game and the “funds” will replenish.

Naturally, you can always choose to play casino games for real money if you click on the title in the lobby. However, even if you want to use the demo version to get your feet wet, most online casinos will keep a button prominently displayed that will instantly switch you to the real money version.

By and large, today’s online casinos can offer most of the same experiences you’ll find throughout Michigan. The biggest drawback? Most online casino games (with the exception of live dealer) are missing the social elements — and the sights and sounds — that come with playing live at a physical casino. But it’s hard to argue with the convenience and ease that real money casino apps offer. Some benefits include:

Oh, if only this were a simple answer. In general, online casino offers are often focused on attracting new players with no deposit and welcome bonuses. Like land-based casinos, many real money casinos in Michigan offer player loyalty programs aimed at retaining existing customers by rewarding loyalty.

Open in michigan when casinos online do

In short, the more you play, the more you earn. And this concept hasn't changed much in the online world. You can convert loyalty points into free play at Michigan online casinos. And since the online casinos are all tied to land-based properties in the state, you can usually convert your points into various rewards at brick-and-mortar locations as well.

Perhaps the best-known and most translatable rewards system in the state is BetMGM's former M Life Rewards program, which is now just known as MGM Rewards. The loyalty system, centered at MGM Grand Detroit, gives you your in-play bonuses on occasion, to be sure. But hotel stays, discounts at other MGM properties and even show tickets and other perks in Las Vegas can be part of the MGM Rewards experience.

Elsewhere in the state, more standardized versions of rewards programs exist that result in free bets or spins on respective apps, or vouchers or other discounts at physical locations that may be tied to the app of choice.

Gambling is supposed to be a source of entertainment but unfortunately for some, it can become an issue. The state of Michigan is committed to helping those who face gambling problems and is enlisting the help of Michigan online casinos in this effort.

Yes. Online casinos are fully legal in Michigan and regulated by the Michigan Gaming Control Board. If you don't see the MGCB logo, it is not an approved Michigan gambling website. Michigan law requires online casino players to be in the state to play. You don't have to be a resident to sign up for an account, but you have to be inside state lines when you do decide to play. All Michigan casinos must verify your location. Since the law makes it their responsibility to make sure players are where they say they are, online casinos will employ geolocation programs.

In essence, geolocation is a positioning system used to pinpoint a player's coordinates through an IP address and Wi-Fi signal. There's really no getting around geolocation technology. No IP masking software or VPN will help.

The operations of the games themselves, their approved return-to-player rates and other monetary approval are all subject to review and an OK from the MGCB. In short, an online casino isn't going to be working live in Michigan without the board's approval. So as frustrated as you might be sometimes, rest assured that what is going on in the Michigan online casino space is above-board.

Nonprofit organizations have been able to run licensed bingo games, millionaire parties, raffles and charity games since the early 1970s. The Michigan gaming industry has come a long way from that.
