Here's a checklist of the main things you should ask before joining an online casino. You can also check out our in-depth review process, which includes 23 testing steps.

You should only join the most trusted online gambling sites which go the extra mile to protect your information and money. We look into the casino's reputation and what security measures it uses. A good starting point is to check for licenses by trusted commissions such as the UK Gambling Commission (UKGC) and the Malta Gambling Authority (MGA). You should also look for reliable payment methods which keep your details private from the casino.

One advantage of internet gambling is that game libraries are huge, since space isn't an issue. Look for a variety of slot machines including progressive jackpot slots, table games, live casino, video poker games, as well as sports betting. You'll also find games from many software providers, such as IGT, Aristocrat, and NetEnt.

This is the biggest worry beginners have about playing online. If you gamble at trustworthy sites, the games are fair. Regulatory bodies and independent testing companies like eCOGRA conduct regular tests to ensure the games are 100% fair and provide random results. If something is wrong, an investigation is launched, and the software providers can lose their licenses.

When you sign up to the best gambling sites, you'll get a great casino welcome bonus to get you started. If you continue playing, you'll also benefit from offers for returning users. Remember to read the bonus terms and make sure they're fair. If there are a lot of restrictions on the games you can play or the timeline in which to use the bonus, it's a red flag.

Top gambling websites offer different methods of how to get in touch with their support team. These include live chat, e-mail, and a phone number, which are usually available 24/7. For smaller queries, you can also have a look at the site's FAQ section.

Online sports betting is gaining popularity worldwide. In the United States alone, more and more states are now allowing legal sports bets. If online betting on sporting events is something that interests you, you can either head over to a dedicated sportsbook site or an operator which provides casino, live casino, and sports betting options on the same website.

We cover the most common queries related to online sports gambling in our guide below.

You can place hundreds of bets at top sports gambling sites. You'll find sports such as horse racing, football, baseball, basketball, and even eSports. You can also try your hand at live betting, where you wager on events in real time.

In sports betting, the favorite is the team which is most likely to win the match, whereas the underdog is the team that has the highest chance of losing the match. When looking at a betting line for any match at a sportsbook, you'll notice who is a favorite to win based on the odds.

The most common ways of how US sportsbooks display odds are as numbers (moneyline odds). The British use fractions (fractional odds), whereas decimals (decimal odds) feature in European sportsbooks. In all cases, the odds show who is most likely to win or lose in a match. Keep in mind that betting on favorites poses less risk, but you'll get lower profits.

With moneyline odds, you'll find positive and negative numbers always in relation to the number 100. Favorite teams are marked with negative numbers, and the underdogs with positive numbers. So, if a team has -110 odds, it means that you have to bet $110 to win your original $110 bet back plus a $100 profit. If a team has +120 odds, you bet $100 to make a profit of $120.

In fractional odds, 1/4 odds mean the favorite has four more chances of winning than losing. This means that for every $1 bet, you'll only make a profit of $0.25. 4/1 odds mean the team is four times more likely to lose than to win, and you'll get $4 for every $1 wagered, plus your starting $1 bet (i.e. a total payout of $5).

To gamble where online

Decimal odds are easier to understand, since the decimal simply represents the amount you can win for every $1 bet. So if a team is set to win by 5.5, it means you'll get a total payout of $5.50 for a $1 bet. Higher decimals and hence payouts show underdogs since they have fewer chances of winning.

Some common options at online betting sites include moneyline wagers, spread betting, and over/under betting.

To gamble where online

It's possible to win money through online gambling. You will have to join a site, make a deposit, and play your favorite casino games. It's important to realize you can't win for real by playing on free online gambling games.

When playing for real money at a gambling site, you should also know the risks involved. Whether you win or lose mostly depends on luck, so ensure you're playing responsibly and for fun. Gambling games are ultimately games of chance.

If you still want to try your luck and are looking into how to make money gambling online, read our top tips to have the best chance.

If you choose to play online slots, for example, check for the RTP (Return to Player) percentage in the game rules or payable. If a slot has an RTP of 97%, subtract this from 100 to calculate the casino advantage, which in this case is 3%. Gambling on games with a high RTP and low house edge increases your odds of winning.

You can protect your bankroll on games such as online blackjack and roulette if you use a strategy chart or betting system. A blackjack strategy chart shows you possible outcomes for different situations, so you can choose the best moves depending on the cards you get and the dealer's up card. If you follow roulette betting systems such as the Reverse Martingale or the Paroli you'll know when it's best to increase, double, or lower your bet depending on the outcome.

While guessing the outcome of a sporting event is mostly based on luck, if you know a sport well and conduct a lot of research into it, you can increase your odds of winning. There are many bets that you can make, which is why the first step is to learn to make quality bets rather than just focusing on the quantity.

You can win the largest sums of money on progressive jackpots, which often go up to millions. The amount here constantly increases because multiple users can play the same slot from many online gambling sites. Whenever they place a bet on the game, a part of this goes towards the jackpot amount. Keep in mind that the odds of winning a progressive jackpot are very slim.

Before choosing a slot machine, compare paytables and check for a free spins bonus. Some slots such as IGT's White Orchid give up to 20 extra rounds. To improve your chances further, opt for online slots in which you can re-trigger the free spins bonus. In White Orchid, you can re-trigger up to another 20 extra rounds if you get two or more bonus symbols on the center column.

Our recommended online gambling sites allow you to add money to your account through many deposit methods. We take a closer look at the most popular ones below, and the reasons why they could be a great fit for your play.

Most gambling sites around the world accept credit and debit cards like VISA and MasterCard. They're a popular choice among gamblers since transactions are instant, they have low to no added charges, and are extremely secure. In fact, cards such as VISA include a variety of fraud prevention tools which protect your play.

Mobile billing methods are great for those who value simplicity, speed, and safety. You only need a phone number to use pay by phone providers such as Boku, Payfort, and Zimpler. Since you don't have to enter any bank details, it's also a secure payment method. You can choose to use your current phone balance or pay on your next phone bill.

Gamblers like prepaid cards such as paysafecard as you can deposit without sharing your bank or card details. There are also minimal charges to use this payment method. Simply purchase a card, head to the cashier, enter a deposit amount, and type in your 16-digit PIN when prompted. This is also a great option to track and control how much you spend on internet gambling.

To where online gamble

This depends on the country or area you're gambling from. While some jurisdictions promote legal online gambling, others might restrict certain gambling games. There are also several US states for example, that outright prohibit all forms of gambling. Before you get started, it's important you check the online gambling laws of where you're playing from. If you'd like to learn more, we can also guide you through our recommended online casinos by country.

Legal online gambling sites obtain licenses from trusted regulatory bodies like the New Jersey Division of Gaming Enforcement (DGE), UK Gambling Commission (UKGC) or Malta Gaming Authority (MGA). If a casino displays the logo of such commissions, your funds and data are 100% safe.
