五、閱讀測驗（每題 3 分，共 3 題）

Dear Dr. James,

I'm a senior high school student. I'm in big trouble. There are bullies at my school. They are very mean to me. Sometimes they walk to my classroom and shout loudly at me. None of my classmates dare to help me because they will get into trouble, too. Yesterday, they did something even worse. They pulled me to the toilet and asked me for money. I refused at first, but one of them punched me hard in my stomach. It hurt! He said, "Give us money, or I'll give you more punches." I was very afraid, so I gave them all my pocket money and didn't tell anyone about this. What can I do now? I don't want to go to school anymore.

Zack

Dear Zack,

That's a serious problem. You must take anti-bullying action right away. Never listen to the bullies anymore, or they will keep bullying you. You need to talk to your teachers about it and let your parents know your situation. Don't be afraid to speak it out and learn to protect yourself.
