Dear Pei-chi,

I loved your last letter. The story about you getting hit in the face with a cream pie had me laughing so hard that my sides hurt. Also, I was totally not expecting you to send a picture of you and your family. From now on, I'll always picture your face with a big, happy smile when I write you.

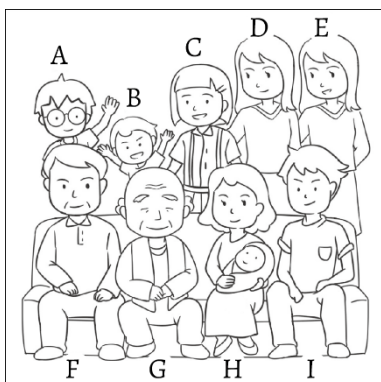

Now, it's my turn to do the same for you. The picture was taken two years ago when my family and I celebrated my grandfather's 75th birthday. As you can see, I have a big family. The man that is older and in the middle is my grandfather, and the woman that is to his left is my mother. The baby that is in her lap is my little sister, Zoe, and the young man that is on the very end is my oldest brother, Brent. The two young women that are behind him are my older twin sisters, Carrie and Chloe, and the one that is next to them is me. I really look like my mother, don't I? Then, the two boys that are to my right are my younger brothers, Quinn and Taylor, and the man that is in front of them is my dad. Isn't he handsome?

Take care,

Ariel
